

International Banking

B.1.2.2.2.1

Degree: Master

Year: 1

Semester: 4

General workload: 3 ECTS credits, 108 hours

Goals and objectives of the course

To gain knowledge of banking; learn how to examine current trends observed in the global financial market and their impact on the Russian monetary, financial policy and banks' and companies' strategies.

Key didactic units

1. The role banks play in the economy. The concept and subjects of international banking;
2. Central Banks, their role in international banking regulation;
3. Special characteristics of banking management in a bank engaged in international banking;
4. Banks' operations in international and national deposit markets. Modern commercial bank resource management;
5. Bank lending and international bank loans. Credit risk management in foreign banks;
6. International banking. International payments and banking services for foreign trade participants;
7. Bank performance assessment;
8. Characteristics of different countries' banking systems.

Place of the discipline within the curriculum

The course is an elective.

Upon completing the course, the students should:

Know: the main factors that affect banking operations in all segments of the international financial market; banking product pricing principles;

Be able to: use the commercial banks' capabilities in order to efficiently resolve issues that arise during financial cooperation negotiations conducted in a foreign language;

Have: skills necessary to choose the most efficient strategy to be used in operations on the global financial market.

Course structure: lectures, practicals and seminars

Summative assessment: pass / fail examination