

INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL ANALYSIS

Department: Accounting, Analysis and Audit

Course description:

The purpose of the discipline is to prepare students for the effective use of modern methodical apparatus of financial analysis in scientific and practical activities and the formation of students:

- understanding the main problems of modern theory and practice of financial analysis, the ability to analyze their development trends and choose the best options for solving analytical problems;
- the ability to theoretically substantiate the selected methods and methods of solving the set tasks in the field of analytical practice;
- skills of analysis of international companies and corporations, including the ability to interpret their financial statements based on IFRS and US GAAP standards.

The International Financial Analysis covers these central topics:

Methodology of financial analysis.

Strategic financial analysis.

Financial analysis as a tool for managing the operational activities of commercial organizations.

Analytical support of financial strategy.

Analytical support for assessing the value creation of an organization.

Application of methods of financial modeling and forecasting

Credits: 3

Learning and teaching methods:

- Hours in classes: 40
- Independent student work: 68
- Total Hours: 108

Assessment: Exam